PRESS RELEASE

Cavaillon,
Monday, December 19th, 2016

Quadrimex focuses on its chemical specialties.

The Quadrimex Group has just sold its subsidiary Quadrimex Salt (No. 2 in France, specialized in de-icing salt) to the Spanish company Iberica de Sales (Minersa group).

As a salt producer, Iberica de Sales has been one of the historical suppliers of the Quadrimex Group for more than 20 years.

Presentation of the Quadrimex Group

Founded in 1986 and located in the south of France, the Quadrimex Group operates worldwide mainly in mineral chemistry with 3 main activities: sulfur products, hydrocarbon drying technologies and chemical specialties.

Quadrimex focuses on strategic markets and the marketing of "sustainable and recycling solutions in chemistry". This valorization of by-products is indeed a major aspect of its development.

Quadrimex Group is going to increase its manufacturing capacity of sulfur products (mines, tanneries, chemicals), speed up the development of the hydrocarbon drying activities (refineries and petrochemicals) and develop the recycling solutions for by-products in Industrial sectors.

Customer service and satisfaction are important core values for the "Quadrimex Group and we aim to build long term reliable relationships based on trust. Michel Reisch, Quadrimex Group CEO, defines Quadrimex as "A Revealer of Chemicals solutions".
